

Operation Belldandy: Project Christina

Celebrating the Birthday of the Genius Neuroscientist

Future Gadget Laboratory

Akihabara, Tokyo

July 25, 2026

Happy Birthday, Makise Kurisu!

Subject Profile: Lab Member 004

- Name: Makise Kurisu, aka “Christina” (she did not choose that nickname)
- Date of Birth: July 25, 1992
- Milestone: Turning 34 today, a fact she would rather you not make a fuss about
- Specialty: Neuroscience & Theoretical Physics
- Affiliation: Viktor Chondria University; Future Gadget Lab

The Science of the World Lines

“People’s feelings are memories that transcend time.”

(Kurusu Makise)

Lab Log: Extended Dossier

Academic Record

- Graduated university at age 17. A bona fide prodigy, and she will remind you of this if asked twice
- Researcher at the Brain Science Institute
- Presented a controversial time-travel paper at a Radio-Kaikan conference in Akihabara. This is the encounter that dragged her into the Lab in the first place
- Later publishes memory-transfer research quietly informed by her own experience with time travel

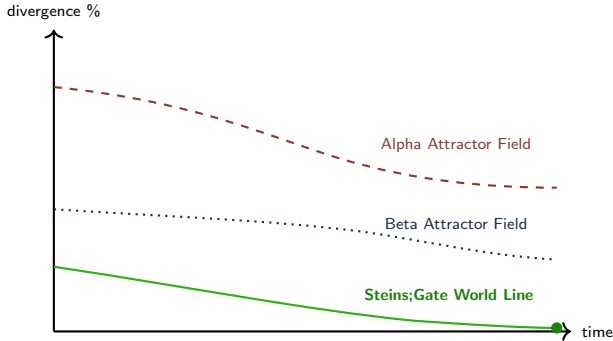

Lab Nicknames (courtesy of Okabe)

- “Christina” / “Assistant”
- “Cold-Blooded Perverted Girl Genius”
- “Mongolian Spot”
- “Celeb Seventeen” (later “Celeb Thirty”)
- “@Channeler”

Tsundere Alert

“I am not a tsundere.” (her, immediately proving the point)

Divergence Meter: Tracking the World Lines

Reading

1.048596%

Divergence number of the Steins;Gate world line: the reading on which Kurisu Makise lives to see another birthday, and the one this presentation is transmitted from.

Field Reference: Standard Appearance

Physical Notes

- Long, straight hair in chestnut-to-auburn shades, usually worn loose
- Violet eyes, and a default expression best filed as “unimpressed genius”
- Signature outfit: white blouse, red tie, and a tan trench coat worn like a cape rather than a coat
- Black shorts, thigh-high stockings, and boots complete the look, all quite practical for someone who spends a surprising amount of time running from the Organization

Lab Safety Note

The trench coat is not lab-issued PPE. She wears it anyway, and would very much like you to stop staring.

Lab Photograph: Recovered from Another World Line

Field Notes

- Rarely seen without a document case tucked under one arm
- That stare alone has ended more of Okabe's harebrained theories than any experiment has
- Her lab coat functions less like a uniform and more like a security blanket

Status

Still the smartest person in the room.
Still 34 today. Still not amused.

Declassified Lab Trivia

- Her given name “Kurisu” shares its reading with kuri (chestnut), which fits given her chestnut-to-auburn hair
- Secretly, not so secretly, loves pudding, and gets defensive the moment anyone notices
- Surprisingly afraid of cats, a detail she would prefer stayed out of every lab report
- Voiced by Asami Imai in Japanese and Trina Nishimura in English
- Her storyline is widely considered the anime’s “true route,” the one where both she and Mayuri make it out fine
- Won the 2014 AnimeBracket “Best Girl” contest with 6,620 votes, a result she would insist means nothing

Lab Directive

For research purposes only. Do not attempt to verify the pudding fact by hiding some in the lab fridge.

*"I-It's not like I wanted a whole presentation made about me or anything.
But fine. Thank you. Don't let it go to your head."*

8 / 8